Course Description

In this course, you will seek to apply your classroom training in the context of ministry in the church. The focused application of this course is the preaching of the Word of God. Additionally, you will read one book during the semester. You must coordinate your assignments with me and your own pastor(s).

Course Objectives

At the end of the course, you should:

- Understand a basic philosophy of preaching
- Have a basic understanding of how to prepare a sermon
- Mature in Christian doctrine
- Mature in your own spiritual growth
- Grow in and spread a passion for the supremacy of God through preaching

Required Reading

Perkins, William. The Art of Prophecy and The Calling of Ministry. Edinburgh: Banner of Truth, 1996.

Suggested Bibliography for preaching

Beeke, Joel. Reformed Preaching: Proclaiming God's Word from the Heart of the Preacher to the Heart of His People. Wheaton, IL: Crossway, 2018.

Fullerton, Ryan, Jim Scott Orrick, and Brian Payne. Encountering God through Expository Preaching. B&H Academic, 2017.

Lloyd-Jones, D. Martyn. Preaching and Preachers. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2011.

Course Approach and Pedagogy

This course is mainly outside the classroom and inside the church. You must schedule regular meetings with me and separate meetings with your pastor(s).

Course Requirements

Reading

You must read thoughtfully both works of Perkins by the end of the semester.

Student Book Discussions

We must all meet together three times during the semester. Since the first two readings are shorter, we must schedule those within the first two months of the semester. The last meeting must be scheduled as close to the end of the semester as possible. You must come to each meeting having read and jotted down notes which highlight insights from the book, questions you may have, and ways you hope to apply principles to your current and future ministry. Students are responsible to coordinate with each other and schedule these meetings with me.

Pastoral Meetings

You must meet with your pastor(s) at least three times during the semester to discuss what you are learning in all your seminary classes and how you can be of greater service to your church. Just drop me a note once all meetings are completed.

Ministry Opportunity

You must seek an opportunity to preach to your church or on behalf of your church. Ask your pastors for the most appropriate venue for this (Sunday morning, Sunday evening, Wednesday evening, youth group, homeless shelter, etc.). Schedule this ASAP. Once completed, you must write an approximately 500-word reflection paper explaining (1) what text you preached and in what venue, (2) how you applied your studies to the sermon, and (3) what you would do differently next time. If you cannot secure a preaching opportunity, contact me and I will give you an alternative assignment.

Final Reflection Paper

You must write an approximately 750-word paper on the Perkins readings, especially reflecting on any of his biblical exegesis.

Grading Scale

Assignments will be weighted as follows:

Reading- 25%

Book Discussions- 25%

Pastoral Meetings- 20%

Ministry Opportunity- 10%

Final Reflection Paper- 20%

We will utilize the following grading scale:

	B+ 89-87	C+ 79-77	D+ 69-67
A 100-94	B 86-84	C 76-74	D 66-64	F 59-0
A- 93-90	B- 83-80	C- 73-70	D- 63-64

Class Schedule

Meeting 1: Discuss The Art of Prophesying- Preface, Intro, and chapters 1-6

Meeting 2: Discuss The Art of Prophesying- chapters 7-11 and summary

Meeting 3: Discuss The Calling of Ministry

The first two meetings are discussions over shorter readings, and thus, should be scheduled within the first half of the semester. The third meeting will cover the longest reading and should be scheduled toward the end of the semester.

All other assignments are due within one (1) week after the last day of the semester.

Standard Notifications

Save your work

Save a copy of all assignments you submit for grading. Your professor is not responsible for lost assignments. Please save a copy of all submitted coursework until you have received a final grade from your professor upon completion of the course.

Cheating

Students cheating in course work are subject to discipline. Cheating includes copying another student's work and presenting it as one's own (or allowing another person to copy one's own work) and using dishonest or prohibited methods to complete an assignment (including letting AI write or edit your work). Students who cheat will be subject to significant academic consequences including an immediate failing grade for the course. An offending student may also be put on disciplinary probation.

Plagiarism

Students found plagiarizing are subject to discipline. The most common errors in handling written sources are the following:

- failure to use quotation marks when quoting,
- failure to make a thorough paraphrase when attempting to put the idea in one's own words,
- failure to credit the source of the information

Students who are discovered to have plagiarized are subject to an immediate F for the course and possible disciplinary probation and the student placed on disciplinary probation.

Special Needs

Any student who may require an accommodation under the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act should contact the professor concerning this matter as soon as possible and no later than the end of the first week of classes. Special needs must be documented with the OTS Registrar.

Syllabus Changes

This syllabus has been written to reflect the intended learning objects, course protocols, and required homework. The professor reserves the right to make any alterations to the syllabus deemed necessary to maintain the learning experience.

Note From the Professor:

Dear Brothers,

I am excited to talk through preaching. My academic background is church history and systematic theology. However, my ministry passion is preaching. And both the history of the church and Christian theology confirm the importance of preaching in God's mind. My hope is that God will use you to faithfully proclaim his Word the way he has so often used men to be his mouthpieces.

Soli Deo Gloria
Todd
